Transfer procedures when the USDF Registration Certificate is available

1. If the new owner has the horse's original USDF certificate with signature from the current USDF owner(s) on record, simply fill out the transfer of ownership section on the back and return it, with the appropriate fees, to USDF.
2. Once the transfer has been processed, a new certificate will be issued showing the new ownership.

What to do if the USDF Registration Certificate is not available

You must supply one of the following with the appropriate fees:

4. Once the transfer has been processed, a new certificate will be issued showing the new ownership.

What to do if the USDF Registration Certificate, breed papers, or a signed bill of sale is not available

1. A USDF Transfer of Ownership Form II (available on the USDF Web site) must be notarized and submitted to the USDF office with the appropriate fees.
